Here on Jan. 31. Accord-

—Some number was regarded as a very late date for lettuce to be planted in Marion. In 1881 it was on Jan. 31. The weather was very cold. The plants were good and seed was sown in the garden at age six weeks. The plants need a great deal of heat and cold. The plants were sold March 6 and March 12. The ground was prepared and planted on March 11 and March 12. On April 1 the crops were harvested for the first time. The crops were sold April 11
and fed for the next few days
during the remainder of the year.
The show measured nearly two feet in diameter and had beds of one a day of two to two and a half feet. Garden work was delayed by rain. On April 11 a farm laborer sowed at 10 a.m.
on the farm lawn the April 11 crop. It was wet and rainy.
Garden work had been done. The weather was cool and had little progress. On April 10 the growing commenced again and the weather was warm and pleasant.
On April 23 the weather was warm and pleasant on April 29 and continued so May 19 the weather was hot and dry with parching east winds and continued so through May 25
when the notation stated the wheat was coming out in head. Cutworms and bugs were very bad.

Plane Owes Dependability and Ground Improvement to Engineering Science.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The aeronautical industry will show great progress in 1928—simply because engineering science is constantly improving the flying dependability of the airplane and is adding better ground equipment and more efficient communication between the two.

So declares H. G. Jones, president of the Crouse-Hinds Co., of Syracuse, who believes that many who attempt to interpret the future of the airplane do so upon the basis of irrelevant facts.

"Aeronautics is a science that all was progressing in direct relation to its engineering development. The airplane was made possible by the genius of two engineers and has been brought to us today through success in engineering laboratories.

"Problems of the air have learned of the faults and shortcomings of the airplane—with many of them sacrificing their lives to do so—and the engineering laboratory has answered
these needs as they are discovered."

Mrs. McCormick's Opponent for Senate Picks Prohibition as Campaign Issue

"Potato" of Politics Is Tossed in Battle Arena by J. Hamilton Lewis.

The Associated Press April 10—Prohibition of potato politics has been adopted by James Hamilton Lewis, Congresswoman Anna McCormick as the major issue campaign for election to the United States a model in the Spanish war and senate whip in Wilson's administration; 12 years' retirement and the Democratic senator without a single campaign. Mrs. McCormick, McCormick's daughter and widow of the former Medill McCormick, late Senator Charles S. and wrecked his Chicago-Cook organization to head the ticket this fall.

McCormick, before returning Washington yesterday, declared it opposition to the world court accepted Deneen under 200.

McCormick, the fourteenth court senator to meet defeat, accepted Mrs. McCormick and lost. But Lewis, too, had the world court and in he voted against Wilson's

Starts Things Going

He shot the question of "personal liberty" to the fore soon after his victory. "It is an issue which I shall not allow any man or woman to escape," a former senator said.

In contrast, the politically-minded

Mrs. McCormick's campaign went to the Anti-Saloon League and both personal and political "dry." Her late husband was as a wet.

To Lewis, the issue is: "Is the man a free man to use his will to just law in governing his or is he a servant to be directed by law, under the penalty of imprisonment and disbarment?"

Then comes the final question:

the man which Champ Clark once called the "dandy of the senate," shall the American citizen submit to the official corruption that is contained in the enforcement of the national prohibition law, to the personal debilitation of himself and home, the defilement of sons and daughters by this system that is put upon

DEMAND TALKIES IN EUROPEAN TONGUE

American Producer Cites Need for Native Language in Films Shown Abroad

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—It will be a nip and tuck race from now on between American and European producers of talking pictures predicts Arthur Loew, foreign manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"Europe will have a hundred per cent increase in sound wired theaters before the year ends," Loew declared. "There are now 3,000 wired theaters, 50 of them being in England. The need for foreign talking versions of American films is becoming more and more acute.

"Spanish speaking nations, which return the bulk of our foreign revenue demand pictures in their own language. Titles no longer suffice."

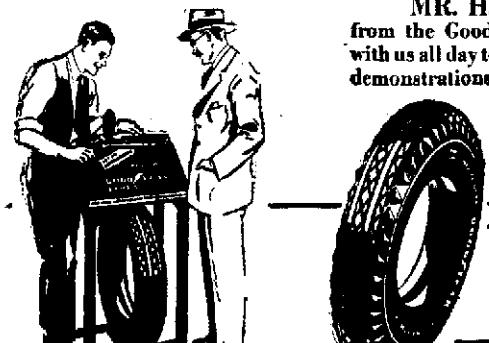

The result will be, in Loew's opinion, that American films will be made with several casts, one speaking each language. This will make more valuable the services of actors and actresses who speak several languages.

Greta Garbo, for instance, can speak Swedish, German and English. Ramon Navarro is a master of English, Spanish and German. Antonio Moreno's ability to speak Spanish is not doubted by anyone who saw him in "Romance of the Rio Grande." Maurice Chevalier speaks English and French.

Examples could be multiplied. It is interesting to observe that, whereas foreigners' prospects looked dark for they now are brighter than are Americans.

One can not help but feel that a man of the great courtesy and graciousness of the Hon J. Hamilton Lewis who has been chosen as the nominee of the Illinois Democracy, is going to labor under a heavy handicap in a rough and tumble senatorial campaign in which his opponent is one of the so called gentler sex.

The department of justice of Washington has announced that dry law violators are being committed to prison at the rate of one every sixty-eight minutes. There should be little unemployment if we are to build prisons to accommodate quantity production of criminals at that rate.

One of the enumerators taking the census in New York City has located a husband and wife who haven't spoken to each other for thirty-two years. The census is liable to give us some enlightening facts on the domestic relations of the land.

While crowds were piling the place four men smashed the window of a Brooklyn jewelry store to the very heart of that city's white light district picked up several trunks of diamonds valued at from $15,000 to $20,000 and made off in an automobile. It's hard to understand why the communists over here should seek any easier picking of the property of others than that.

The Michigan supreme court having held that persons arrested under that state's old law for a pistol law can not be tried under the law which has superseded it the woman who was the first to be imprisoned under the old law has her freedom without facing a new trial. And thus ends the first lesson on the folly of passing laws for the punishment of offenses not in themselves crimes of such severity as to arouse general sympathy for those apprehended under them.

"Hands Across the Sea" Stuff.

That every British naval base throughout the world should be placed at the disposal of the warships of the United States was urged in an address delivered a day or two ago before the American Chamber of Commerce in London by J. L. Garvin, editor of the London Observer and editor in chief of the English speaking Briton.

Editor Garvin said he hoped to live to see the day this may be accomplished as it was the cause of reason and practicability Great Britain and the United States not being rivals on the sea but trusties of the seas forever.

There is an the principle that I regard as vital and for which I will continue to work the London editor continued. That is the necessity for securing under the heel of the power of the nation the control of ports for the protection of our commerce.

He was the first to see that there must be some one person at least sufficiently foolish to believe that if Garvin knew a sure way of making twenty six percent he would be crazy enough to let somebody else do it on it.

Attorney General Mitchell is seeking a decision by the United States supreme court on the guilt or innocence of a man who buys liquor. Now we may soon know whether some of our self-claimed best citizens are patriotic champions of personal liberty or merely criminals.

Three weeks after a London youth was arrested and found guilty of strangling his mother and attempting to burn her body in the hope of collecting her life insurance he was hanged in Mincing prison. The British it may be noted do not permit any malignant sentiment about the youth of a criminal to interfere with the execution of the law. In time we may become equally wise over here.

Senator Nyce's charge of fraud and corruption in connection with the renting of buildings for postoffice purposes would be somewhat more impressive had it come from some other quarter. The senator is more or less given to doing things in the fraud and corruption which fall to materialize.

I am looking forward to the session of 1930-31 and the confirmation of the new members in London unless they are sent to Russia. The world is due to see a acquaintance with the new men whom them to be in London a year or two. It is a possibility that we would have done a little energetic hand clapping if we had been present and heard the address.

But later on in our calmer moments, we are satisfied that our spirit of caution would have caused us to pause and wonder for a bit what might be the fate of one of our warships about to endeavor to make use of a British naval base should we be at war with Great Britain at the time—a possibility which, let us hope may never become an actuality. And we are just as sure that our conviction would have been with regard to the dismemberment of the British fortifications would let loose and not our warship full of large, jagged holes.

RIOT STAGED BY STUDENTS

Thousands Join in Violent Protest Against Theater Price Boost.

By The Associated Press

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 19.—University of Virginia students today were in a state of high excitement following a riot last night in protest to increase admission prices at two local theaters.

Two students were in the University hospital, dozens of others were nursing head wounds inflicted by the night sticks and at least one person was suffering from brain hemorrhage. Nearly a thousand students participated in the disturbance. No arrests were made.

Although the actual riot was dispensed with a plea for arbitration by President Edwin A. Alderman, of the university, hundreds of students continued to mill about the town long after midnight.

Led by a drum corps, nearly a thousand students mobilized on the university campus early last night, and marched down main street to the theater.

Leaders of the demonstration gained a conference with the management, and while they were inside, their followers showered the front of the theaters with eggs, broke electric light bulbs, and blocked traffic.

Has No Intention of Returning to Public Life, Former President Says.

By The Associated Press NEW YORK, April 19.—Former President Coolidge, in a conference with the May issue of the American Federation magazine, "Business Week," says that he has no intention of returning to public life.

The former president gave his views on politics, the stock market, business, labor, and the suggestion that he go into politics again.

When I left Washington I left coolly," Mr. Coolidge says. "It is an unusual relief and I have no intention of returning to it."

"If I were in the Senate," he adds, "it would not be agreeable to many of my colleagues, and with all the news to be helpful it would probably irritate me an embarrassment to the administration. To have a further preoccupation in Washington exercising political power would result in all kinds of uncomfortable complications. Only the necessity of serving in some national crisis, so great as to subordinate all other considerations, would warrant it."

"Nor," he says further, "do I have any sympathy with those who are discussing again making me president. The service that I could give to the people in that office I feel is done."

Mr. Coolidge discusses prohibition at some length and in connection therewith the editor of the Compensation has singled out for prominent presentation this sentence:

"Considering that people have differed most radically on the best method of regulating the sale of liquor for generations, it is not likely to be settled for a long time to come."

Social Training Urged for University Students

EX-OFFICIAL SENTENCED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, April 19.—The problem created by the new classification law approved by the voters last November is "how to reduce the tax rate," E. C. Lampson, of Jefferson, a member of the governor's taxation committee, told the tenth annual conference of the Ohio Tax Association here today.

Reminding his hearers that he opposed the law at the time it was proposed but later became convinced that its advocates were sincere, Mr. Lampson said that "it seems incredible that any responsible legislator would claim that this amendment does not require substantial tax reduction."

"Examination of federal and state reports shows that a proper state income tax on individuals and corporations can shift the burden from general property and actually secure taxes on intangibles and profits in excess of any other method."

"All of the necessary revenue to make the tax rate about 12 mills instead of 21.26 may be secured from an income tax to equal the federal government's receipts from Ohio in 1920. The total was $121,821,512. We do not need that sum."

"We need to secure $100,505,750 from new sources. I suggest three methods to secure the needed amount—increase the motor license fee; adopt certain luxury and amusement taxes, and make up the balance by a state income tax."

cheerful again and he was glad

His three new friends were good fellow. He used them and the tagging cheaters did him good.
They talked and all were merry.

Then somebody suggested a poker
game and one of the others
"What about according to our flat for a little round or two of card?"

Teddy was quick to agree though at this point he began to suspect the presence of the eleven hood if he could not see it. The price did not de pration in the flat if there was one thing to do it was something about it was cards.

Then he began to lose and after two or three rounds he saw quite clearly that his companions were beating him.

But they had made a serious error.
Teddy not only knew practically all there was to know about cards and card playing at which he had spent a very considerable portion of his career and his money but also was an adept at crooked play.

In the early days he had suffered at the hands of card sharps. Then he had been interested in cheating and had made a study of it. He had made one of his hobbies, and in a short time was quite an expert at the use of slight hand devices in connection with cards.

Teddy had never won a penny by unfair means but when he saw his companions cheating and doing it rather clumsily he said nothing but began cheating himself.

He continued to win their money quicker than before. Their cheerful faces vanished. Their faces were a study and Teddy's pile of winnings grew rapidly from 100 pounds to 200
and more.

When it had reached 200 and the luck was still on Teddy's side one of the men stood up with a snarl threw his cards on the table shook a fairy heavy stakes which he counted

at the time man of cheating
he a low down common card sharp.
He's been cheating from the start. I believe.

Teddy smiled at him pleasantly and patiently. You are quite wrong, he explained. I did not begin to cheat until you did that when you started I started and as I am a better cheater than you I am the winner naturally.

They stared at him blankly.
Gum grappled one of the men
with a rather sickly sort of smile.
So you are one of us.

Teddy relighted his cigar. I confess I fail to understand what you remarked. You are a card sharp same as we are.

Not at all," replied Teddy. You misunderstand me entirely. I learned this sort of thing for a hobby to amuse myself with in my spare moments—
I only cheated you to have myself from being cheated. You have never been a penny dishonesty
from honest players.

The older man shrugged his shoulders.
It amounts to the same thing
he said with an attempt at bluntness.
You admit you have been a card sharp for the time being so you are better than we are. The laugh is on us all right and you're not a bad soot. There's only one thing to be done. You hand back the spoils, we all shake hands, and the incident is closed.

"Not so," replied Teddy. I don't agree with you. The incident is al ready I used you took the sum risks as I did. I shall therefore retain it for my personal use and profit. I have the honor to thank you for a very pleasant and amusing evening.

With a quick motion Teddy crumpled the pile of notes and rammed them into his pocket. Then he stood up and backed towards the door.

There was a short tense silence.
One of the men was breathing in a curious hissing way. It sounded like an escape of gas. Teddy Montrose was still smiling and the stump of his cigar had not gone out. But the three card-sharps were desperate.

It would never do for him to get away with all that money. A head long rush would certainly have come but for a remarkable interruption.

Somewhere outside the flat there arose a sudden terrible hubbub and commotion.

Crash! Bang! Bang!
A thin high scream—a pounding of feet—hoarse shouting—a shrill chorus of voices whistled repeated again and again. A terrible smashing of glass windows then screaming and the shouts of men.

The little drama in the flat came to an abrupt stop. The faces of the three sharps went white and for a moment they appeared to forget all about Teddy Montrose.

Teddy was far his part much too interested in the uproar outside to take the opportunity of making his escape as he could easily have done.

Then one of three men lunged hastily—a lurch which was accom panied by an audible sigh of relief.

"It's a raid!" he said. "A police raid."

"Raid? Who are they raiding?"
demanded one of his companions.

"Circus night club next door.
There's a gambling joint run there on the quiet. Nothing for us to worry about."

Then the double windows of the room opened. They opened with a crash, which was like an echo of that other crash next door where the police cordons were closing in a fashion dressed crowd of merrymakers.
The crimson plush curtains were swept aside and a girl in a white silk evening gown with a big tear in it swung herself into the room from the iron fire staircase outside.

RESEARCH STUDIES COVER WIDE FIELD

39 Harvard Professors To Enter Research During 1930.

BOSTON, April 19.—Research studies covering a field that ranges from some of the most elusive subjects to the severely practical things, understandable even by the lay mind, will be undertaken by 39 Harvard University professors during 1930 and 1931.

Humor, electricity, medieval culture and the New Testament are but a few of the subjects to be studied. Other scholars will enter into the cytology of living tissue cells, genetics, amoebae and fields of a similar nature.

These studies will be made at the expense of funds donated in the will of the late William F. Milton, class of '58, of Pittsburgh, Mass. To carry out the present program $47,000 has been disbursed.

An attempt to construct an amplifier for small direct currents will be made by Franz H. Crawford, instructor in physics, and Prof. Theodore Lyman.

Further studies of the planet Mars will be made by William H. Pickering, noted student of that planet. Prof. Pickering will also investigate the seasonal changes on the moon and the satellites of the outer planets.

Astronomers will be interested in the work to be done by Prof. Alexander G. McAdie. Prof. McAdie will make a study of ice storms and subcooled water vapor in an effort to determine conditions favoring the formation of ice coatings on the airplanes and airships.

Preservation of present works of art and an effort to ascertain new methods of painting durable pictures will come in the field of Prof. Edward W. Forbes, lecturer on fine arts and director of the Fogg Art Museum, while Paul E. Doyle, instructor in operative dentistry, will study the mi-

U. S. AND FRENCH PUPILS CORRESPOND

High School Pupils Learn of Whims and Ideas of European Neighbors.

MILFORD, Mass., April 19.—Cheerful, friendly letters between boys and girls of the United States and France are going a long way toward establishment of a foundation of good will between the peoples of the two nations.

While students study ways and means of more closely knitting the many nations of the world, young students, by exchanging letters with those in foreign countries, learn the whims, ideas and hopes of their neighbors across the water, and in return give them.

As part of a plan sponsored by the French Ministry of Education and the United States Bureau of Education, high school pupils in both countries have established correspondence contacts across the Atlantic. French pupils studying English write to American students in French and English, and receive replies in the same language.

This gives the students an opportunity of practicing the languages they are studying and a more intimate knowledge of the country and people separated by the broad Atlantic. Pictures and photographic make the mutual understanding more vivid than any travel book could, and the natural interest which boys and girls of similar ages take in each other, is a greater incentive to study than any method yet devised by educators.

Elephants have been found to be only one-fourth as expensive as tractors when used to do farm work in the Belgian Congo.

Thus Le Cercle de Jeunesse D'Arcy of Milford High School, composed of about a score of French students, has been receiving letters from a charming little lady in Yvetot, France, and in return the lady has received letters from each of the club's members.

In one letter the little French Miss, referred to the American's appreciation of Maurice Chevalier, French musical comedy star, by remarking that "we have many better singers here in Paris."

GROUPS TO ATTEND REVIVAL SERVICES

"Coming Home Is Theme of Rev. Carl V. Roop's Sermon at Church Tonight."

There was one decision for Christ and several requests for prayer following the Rev. Carl V. Roop's sermon at First United Brethren church last night on the text, "The Lord is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance."

"There is hope for everyone who seeks the Lord," he said. "God has given us the Bible, churches, sacred songs, praying mothers and Christian friends to help us. He so loved us that He gave His only begotten Son and sent the Holy Spirit to convict, convince and comfort. Surely the Lord is not willing that any should perish," he concluded.

The Woman's Missionary Association and Oberlein Guild will attend the services tonight. "Coming Home" is the subject for the sermon.

COLLEGE WOMEN TO DEBATE AT CHURCH

Ohio Wesleyan and Oberlin Students Will Meet Here in Forensic Contest.

Ohio Wesleyan students and Oberlin College women will debate at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at Holy Cross Church on the question, "Resolved: That it is an unwise policy to provide a liberal arts education for the average secondary school graduate who wishes it."

The Ohio Wesleyan women will debate the affirmative side and the Oberlin women the negative side. On the Ohio Wesleyan team will be Miss Carolyn Womac, Miss Hobart Womac and Miss Helen Morris.

Y INDUS CAGERS TO PLAY SPHINX CLUB

Youngstown Y. Team Will Play State Champions Saturday Night in Y. M. C. A.

MARION'S chief claim to fame in the realm of basketball this year seems to be entered in the Y. Indus club in Marion. Marion has lost 10 games and who has won 20, all victories over them being 44-1. The best among the teams in the Northwest are the Y. Indus club, the 1st year of the northwest college conference, and the only team to attack the Y. Indus is Columbus' Akron club. Ohio Northern University and Bowling Green College are the first named team beasts of the fastest working river in the central part of the state, and until they hit the Y. Indus club Gillis, Hunt and Co. gradually put the skids under them to hold them the short end of 27-25 count.

Ohio Northern University although it winning the top 1 spot in the college conference last year which was stronger than usual, the reflect partisans were expecting another of the proverbial green push overs when they took the court against the Marion team, but they were the losers at a single point. Bowling Green is seven six, fifth red and were beaten 21 to 21.

OHIO HEAVYWEIGHTS FACE SUSPENSION

K. O. Christner and Joe Sekyra indefinitely suspended by Commission.

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, O., April 10—K. O. Christner of Akron and Joe Sekyra of Dayton, two nationally known heavyweights, are under indefinite suspension from boxing in Ohio, and similar action will undoubtedly be taken soon by the National Boxing Commission in its 12 states.

The action was taken by the Ohio state association of boxing commissions at their annual meeting, were last Monday but not announced until after the Christner-Sekyra bout in Akron last night in order not to embarrass the Akron promoters and boxing commission.

The eight title holders were the cream of the ninety seven boxers from all parts of this country and three from far away Hawaii. Two winning a trio of titles, the Boston team repeated its performance of a year ago.

Winners of the National Amateur championships were:

112 pound class George Ostrow, Reserve.

118 pound class Abe Miller, Los Angeles Cal.

120 pound class Ray Meyers, New York.

135 pound class Alex Santora, New York.

147 pound class Charlie Kelly, Newark.

160 pound class Ring Larson, Quincy.

Heavyweight class Jack Pollard, Cleveland, Ohio.

There were twenty seven knockouts in the eighty four bouts of the tournament three of the "knockouts" coming in the finale. No foul was called.

CHIEF WAR EAGLE

GARDEN REFUSES TO SANCTION GERMAN

New York Corporation Declines To Promote Matches of Schmeling.

By DAVID J. WELSH
NEW YORK, April 10—The world's greatest boxer is an even score now in the fight between the German Max Schmeling and the American Jim Thorpe. He might even be the sensation of the year in which event he would be a champion. Schmeling would be a champion, Moran, who drew $300,000 with Moran, and later about $150,000 with Fazio.

As a champion, Schmeling would be a figure to do at least as well as Tunney with Hobey and considerably better than Willard did with anybody. He might even be the sensation of the year in which event he would be a champion. Schmeling would be a champion, Moran, who drew $300,000 with Moran, and later about $150,000 with Fazio.

Conservative Guess

A boxer's life is as short as a career is made. If the possible date taken an expensive stroll with him, he would be a champion. There are in fact only three chances by which his name can be assured of him on the night of June 12. He can spend the evening hoping that Schmeling loses.

And so it was when he told yesterday that he was able to follow the reasoning of the German's corporation like the Marlin Square Garden outfit when he told the spokesman of a Cuban boxer, Max Schmeling to go and say he does nothing to satisfy him. What is the luxury of a good heart but that null and void a person's reputation is a terrible thing?

This tactfully was to say W. F. Carey of the garden for agreed to pay for the privilege of telling Jim Thorpe of the Schmeling match that he didn't care for J. Schmeling in a great big way. If Schmeling beats Schmeling on the night of June 12 all will be well. If Schmeling or the prize fight. This, of course, depends on who is with a champion. Dempsey who grossed $1,000,000 with Carnera or $1,200,000 with Fazio and $1,500,000 with Tunney. It was more temperately so with Tunney who took in on Dempsey and later about $200,000 for the second fight.

It even was so with the Cuban, Red Willard, who drew $300,000 with Moran, and later about $150,000 with Fazio.

As a champion, Schmeling would be a figure to do at least as well as Tunney with Hobey and considerably better than Willard did with anybody.
